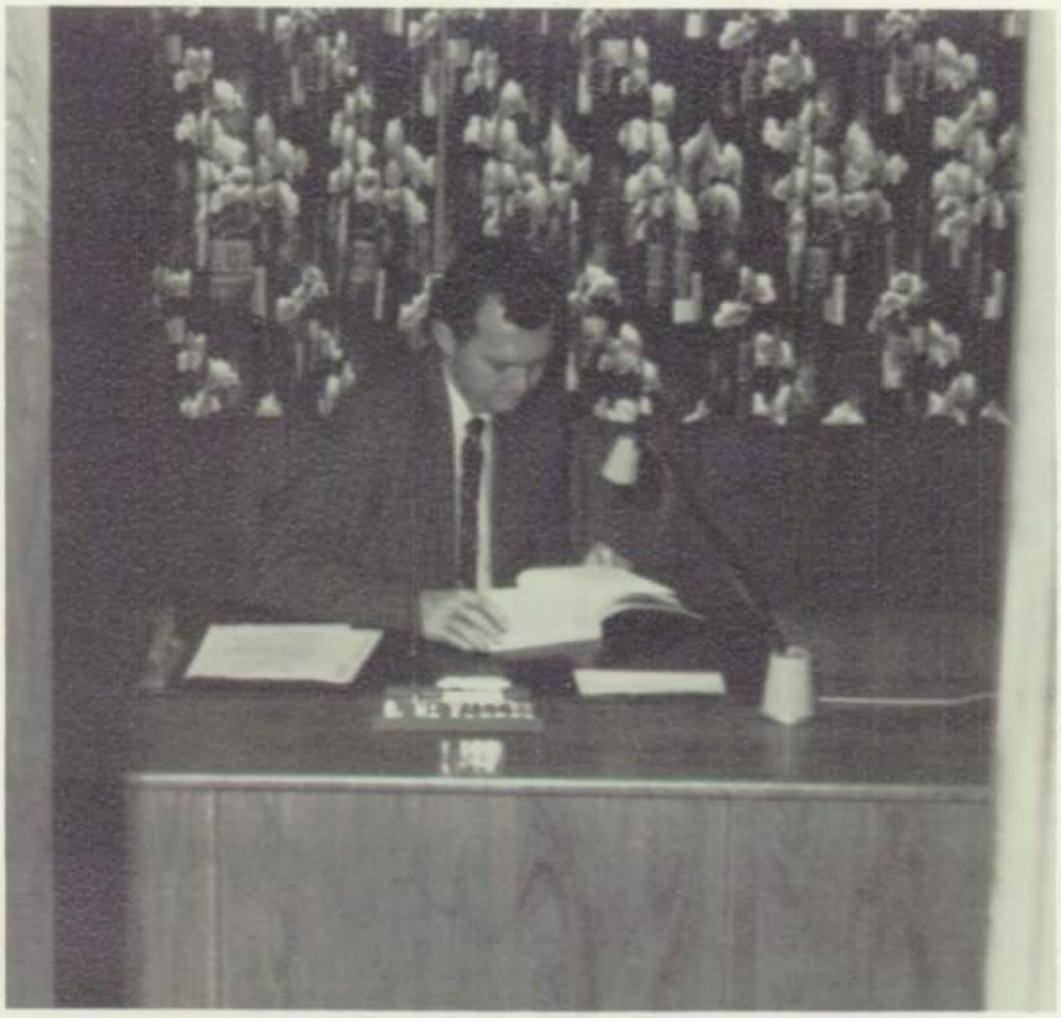
Mr. McMillen



We've sat fascinated in your classes where you've patiently introduced us to the miscroscope, the Bunsen Burner, and the test tubes.

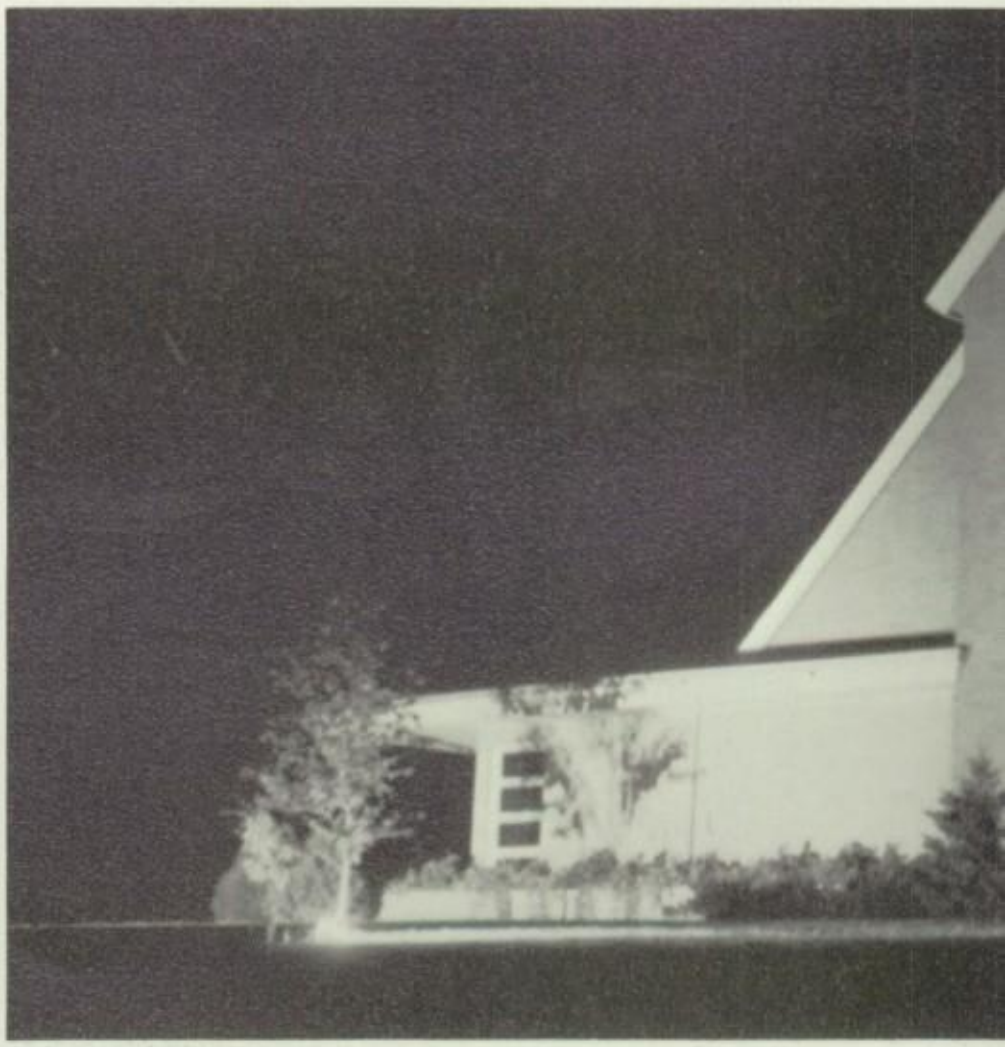
You've given us a glimpse of a mind forever voyaging through strange seas alone. Sometimes we've followed; sometimes we've been left on the shores of thought alone.

We've come to you when the puzzles of Chemistry and Biology couldn't be pieced together and we've always received help. It has been said "A professor can never better distinguish himself in his work than by encouraging a clever pupil, for the true discoverers are among them, as comets among the stars." Quoted by Daydon Jones.

The jingle of your keys ringing in the corridor, the pink slips, the everchanging class schedules on the bulletin board, and the school spirit you gave the Associated Student Body portray a man whose life has truly been an inspiration to us.

So Mr. McMillen, for what you've done quietly for us and for the many before us, we dedicate this book to you to say "Thank You."

Everchanging sunlit and shadowed paths, worn deep by busy young feet. Paths that lead to study, to laughter, to work and play, and sometimes to tears; but always there, always a part of us.....



...Impressions

Today we recognize that man has fallen from the perfection in which he was created. Maplewood Academy believes that the purpose of education is to bring him back to his original perfect state, because only the Creator can restore man. It is our first duty to direct the student to God's revelation of Himself as a source of true knowledge and real development. Each student individually must be guided with love by the precepts or endeavors of His teaching to make a Christ-like character the supreme desire of his life. Christian sociability as expressed by the golden rule is taught as the guide for the student's relations with others, for we believe that gracious contact will give the student polish, refinement, and enduring friendships, and will open a way to lead men to Christ.

Education is presented to the student not as a means of selfish goals, but as the development of his abilities to best serve God and Man. Maplewood Academy aims to prepare a student so that upon graduation he can take up a vocation or enter another educational institution for further training. We believe such a philosophy will guide a student in his preparation for a worthy place not only in this world, but also in the world to come.

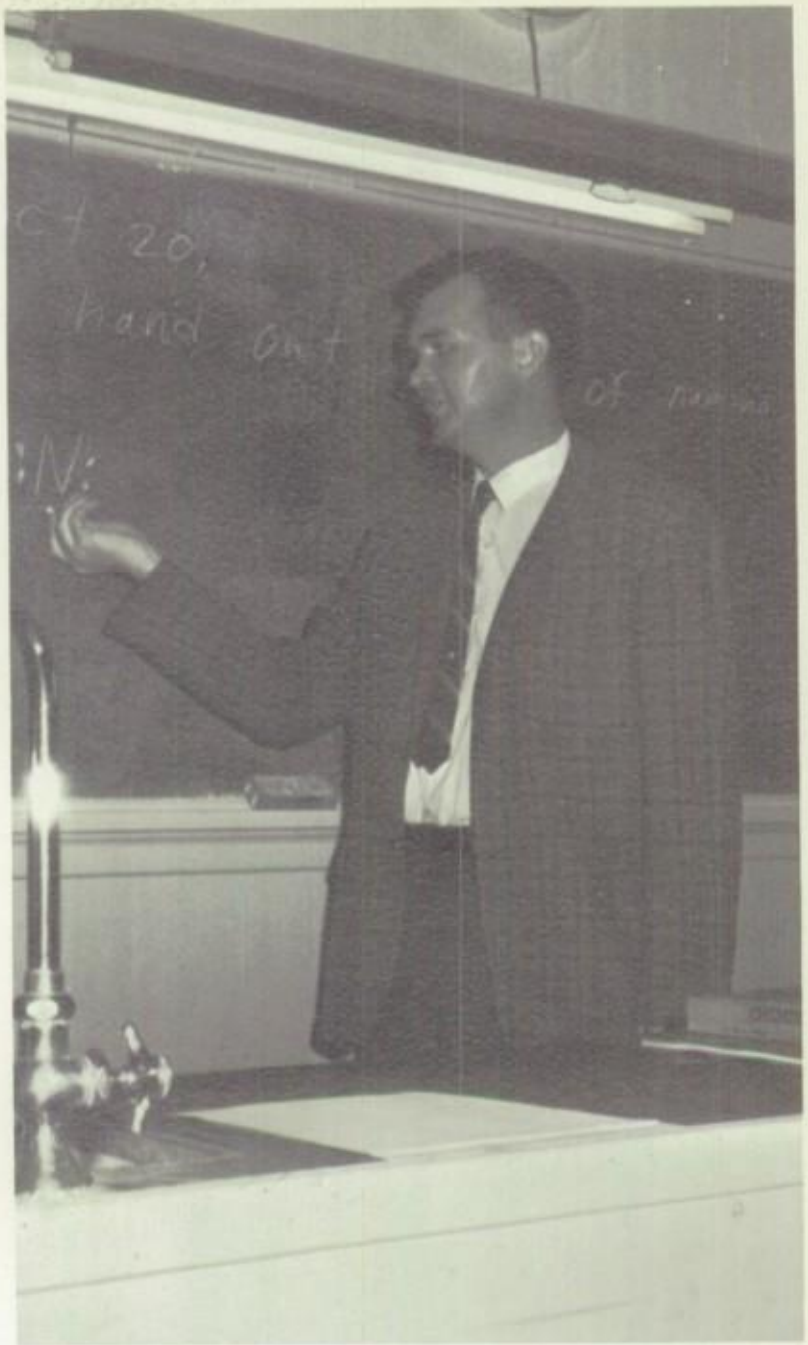
Twenty-five hours a day eight days a week, our dedicated faculty are presented with a full-time job. Never finished at five o'clock - their job extends beyond. There are always the grades that just have to be in, the student who needs extra help, or the basketball team to prepare for Saturday night's game. All of these make up just a small part of their daily routine. Their best efforts are put forth to guide, teach, and spur us on to obtain all that which they, and our school, have to offer. Their leadership provides that extra something which every school and every student needs to make this school year the best ever.



I still haven't figured out what all those little dots are!

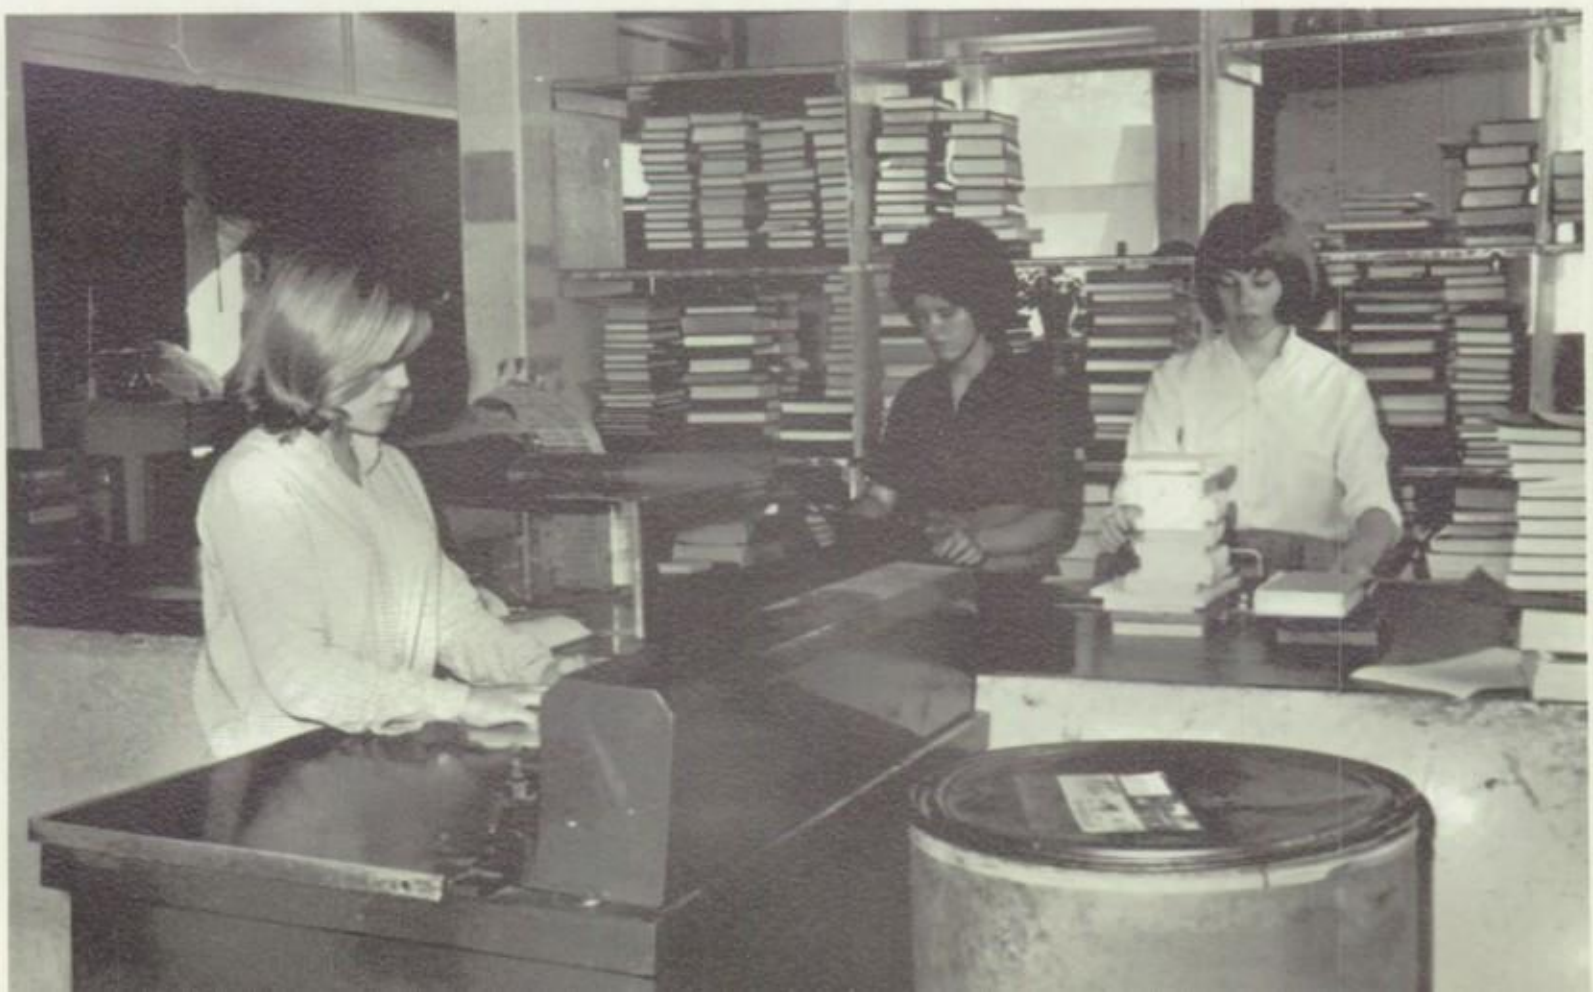
The Maplewood Book Bindery handles thousands of books annually. Student labor is educational and also very profitable.



All right! You've had it!

Work is an invaluable part of Maplewood's school program. Practical experience is gained as willing students develop their talents in the various vocational departments of the school. Skills and responsibility are learned while the students help to meet the expenses of their education. Under the watchful eyes and helpful hands of their work supervisors, the students accomplish much. Providing a chance for exercise while at the same time learning and earning, work still remains an outstanding part in the life of a typical student at Maplewood Academy.

Spiritual Emphasis

The Choraliers under the direction of Mr. Wheeler, were one of the added attractions of the meetings.

Mrs. Charles Felton, Mrs. Lyle Anderson, and Mrs. Julian Denler were in charge of distributing "Bible In the Hand" lessons.

Elder C.E. Felton delivered his message to those gathering to hear the truth.

Elder C.E. Felton speaker, and Mr. Lyle Anderson, music director, work together.

Gaylord Evangelistic Effort Held

Evangelism in the Gaylord area reached a new height in December when a series of meetings were opened in that area. The meetings climaxed an extensive program of literature distribution and personal visitation program in the territory by the members of the Church and by the students.

Mr. Anderson served as Music Director, leading out in all the old time favorite hymns. Elder Felton was the speaker of the series which was based on Bible Prophecy of Revelation. Elder Warner directed the hostessing, ushering, and 1,001 details connected therewith. Special music was provided by student trios, duets, solos, the choir, and Choraliers. Students at school participated in it through prayer circles, and during private devotions. May God richly bless those who have heard this message, that another eternal flame of truth may be kindled in this area, bringing closer the day of our Lord's returning.

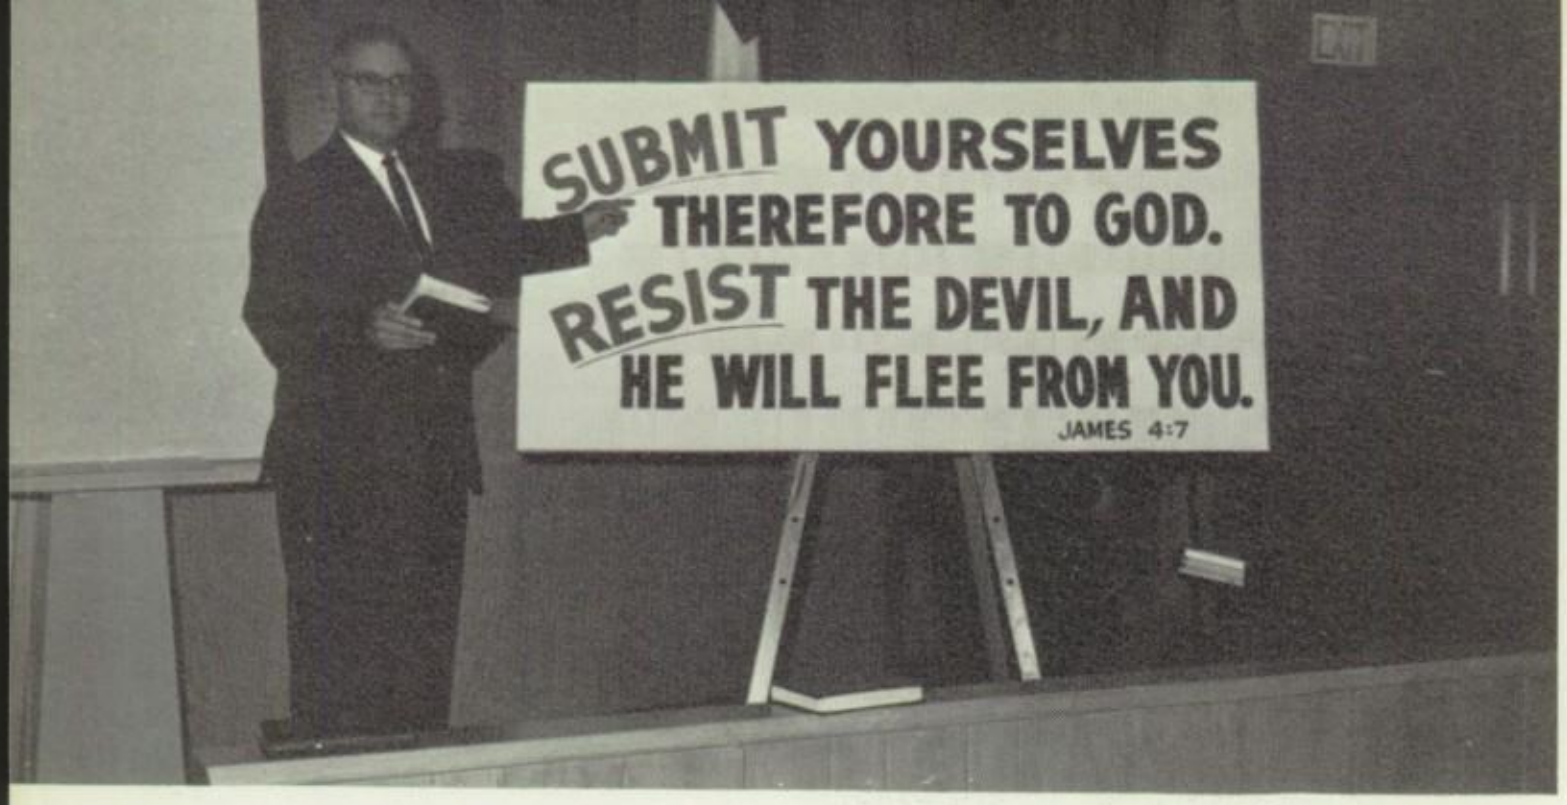
Inspiring messages were presented during the Student Week of Prayer. The speakers were: Sharon Peyer, Marty Ekrem, Myra Schauer, Curtis Wiltse, Kathy Malas, Phil Chaffee, Lowell Rideout, Linda Croak, Russel Zummach, and Sue Frye.

Student Week of Prayer

"The Word of God is more precious than gold and of more value than diamonds. The great treasure within its course can make a man richer than any material wealth he can accumulate-and the cost is free." With this thought in mind, the students prepared and presented the second annual Students Week of Prayer. Using "Youth of Today" as a theme for the week, teams of students put forth their best and brought a series of inspiring meeting to the student body. Each day the program was closed by classes gathering together in prayer bands to seek closer contact with God.

Lowell Rideout spoke on the importance of youth in the last days.

Myra Jean told of the many ways in which youth could participate in the church work.



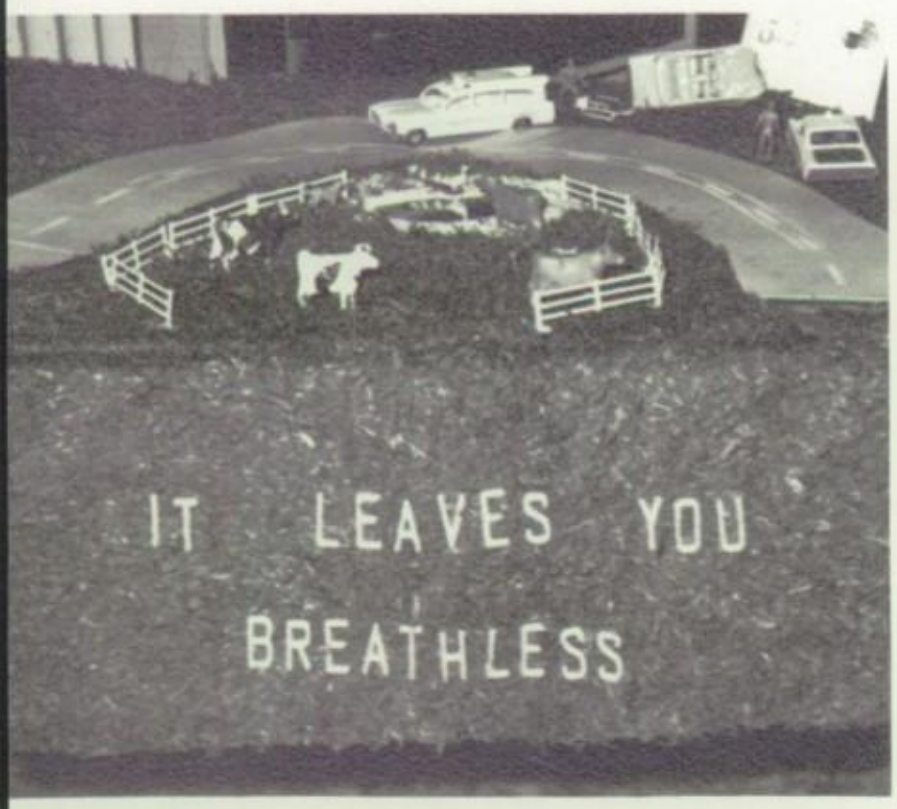
Elder E.F. Armour, M.V. Education Secretary of the Minnesota Conference held the Fall Week of Prayer.

Two events long to be remembered by the students of Maplewood Academy are the Spring and Fall weeks of Prayer.

E.F. Armour presented the Fall week of prayer and Elder Gane was the speaker for the spring week of prayer. Two inspired meetings were held each day all during both weeks. Each week especially set aside to care for the spiritual needs of the students was a success and a blessing to all.

Week of Prayer

Spring Week of Prayer was held by Elder Erwine Gane, Instructor in the Religion Department at Union College.



Temperance and Bible Quiz

The temperance society of Maplewood once again is active. During temperance week it sponsored an essay, poster, and jingle contest with Elder Armour presenting the awards in a special temperance chapel program. The weeks events were climaxed by the oratorical contest. Bruce Naustdahl took the honors with Connie Neher and Linda Croak as runners up. The Bible Quiz, another of the years big events, determines winners and sends them with the winner of the oration contest to represent Maplewood at the Union temperance contest.

Kent Juhl, preparing for the Sabbath hours.

The week is at an end and once again we find it time to prepare for the Sabbath. With last minute preparations finished, we are ready to welcome the Sabbath, happy to lay aside the cares of the week for a pleasant walk with God.

As we gather together in silent adoration and praise, thankful prayers ascend to Him who so thoughtfully gave us this day to let our souls catch up. The silent hours of evening fall with reverence due at this vesper time.

Every Friday night the girls begin the Sabbath with Sundown Worship presented by one of the senior girls.

Friday-end of a beginning of

The high light of the week-end, Friday evening vespers, finds guest speakers and faculty members giving the students much to think about.

Seeking a closer walk with God.

"Thy will be done."

Under excellent leadership, our Sabbath Schools have been interesting and educational this year.

"But the seventh day is the

The Sabbath dawns bright, and with the spirit of worship and reverence in our hearts, we gather together. The praise swelling within us expresses itself as we blend our voices together. We are drawn closer to God as our fellow students share with us their thoughts in an interesting Sabbath School program. Details of the lesson are discussed in small classes. Elder Warner guides us during the worship service in a special way that helps us forget to watch for the passing of time. Later in the afternoon when singing bands are organized, groups of students visit nearby nursing homes to share joy and happiness with those in the wintertime of life. M.V. service is a final memoriam to an unforgettable Sabbath.

The students have a round table discussion as they each take part in the lesson study.

Sabbath of the Lord thy God."

To each student there comes a great feeling of satisfaction after bringing a little sunshine into the lives of the invalids.

You can see the happiness on the patients' faces as each one receives a little personal attention.

M.V. brings the Sabbath hours to a close.

Today they are students performing a valuable service to their school and associates. Tomorrow they are the leaders who will take their place at the front to guide and direct their fellowmen. They unselfishly give of their time and energy to help care for the spiritual needs and encouragement of others. This sacrifice of self for the benefit of others, while never to be forgotten by them as time and effort well spent in developing their characters will in a greater sense be affectionately remembered more by those whom they have so willingly served.

President of Temperance, Bruce Naustdal, and seretary, Marilyn Bounds leave for Oak Park Academy.

Sabbath school officers for the first semester-leaders, Kathy Malas, Marty Ekrem; secretaries, Nina Wehling, Dennis Ekrem; song leaders, Nadine Jones, Dean Hagele.

Second semester Sabbath School Officers-leaders, Connie Neher, Larry Christenson; secretaries Kathy Hanson, Janet Mattson; song leaders, Julie Gligor, Phil Chaffee; pianist, Sue Quast, Roxanne Truax.

Errol Eder and Linda Armour work jointly in leading a two-part song service for M.V.

The M.V. leaders-Curtis Wiltse, Barry Olson, Linda Croak, and Claudia Schulz.

Sandy Felton and Lowell Rideout look for pointers on how to be a good M.V. secretary.

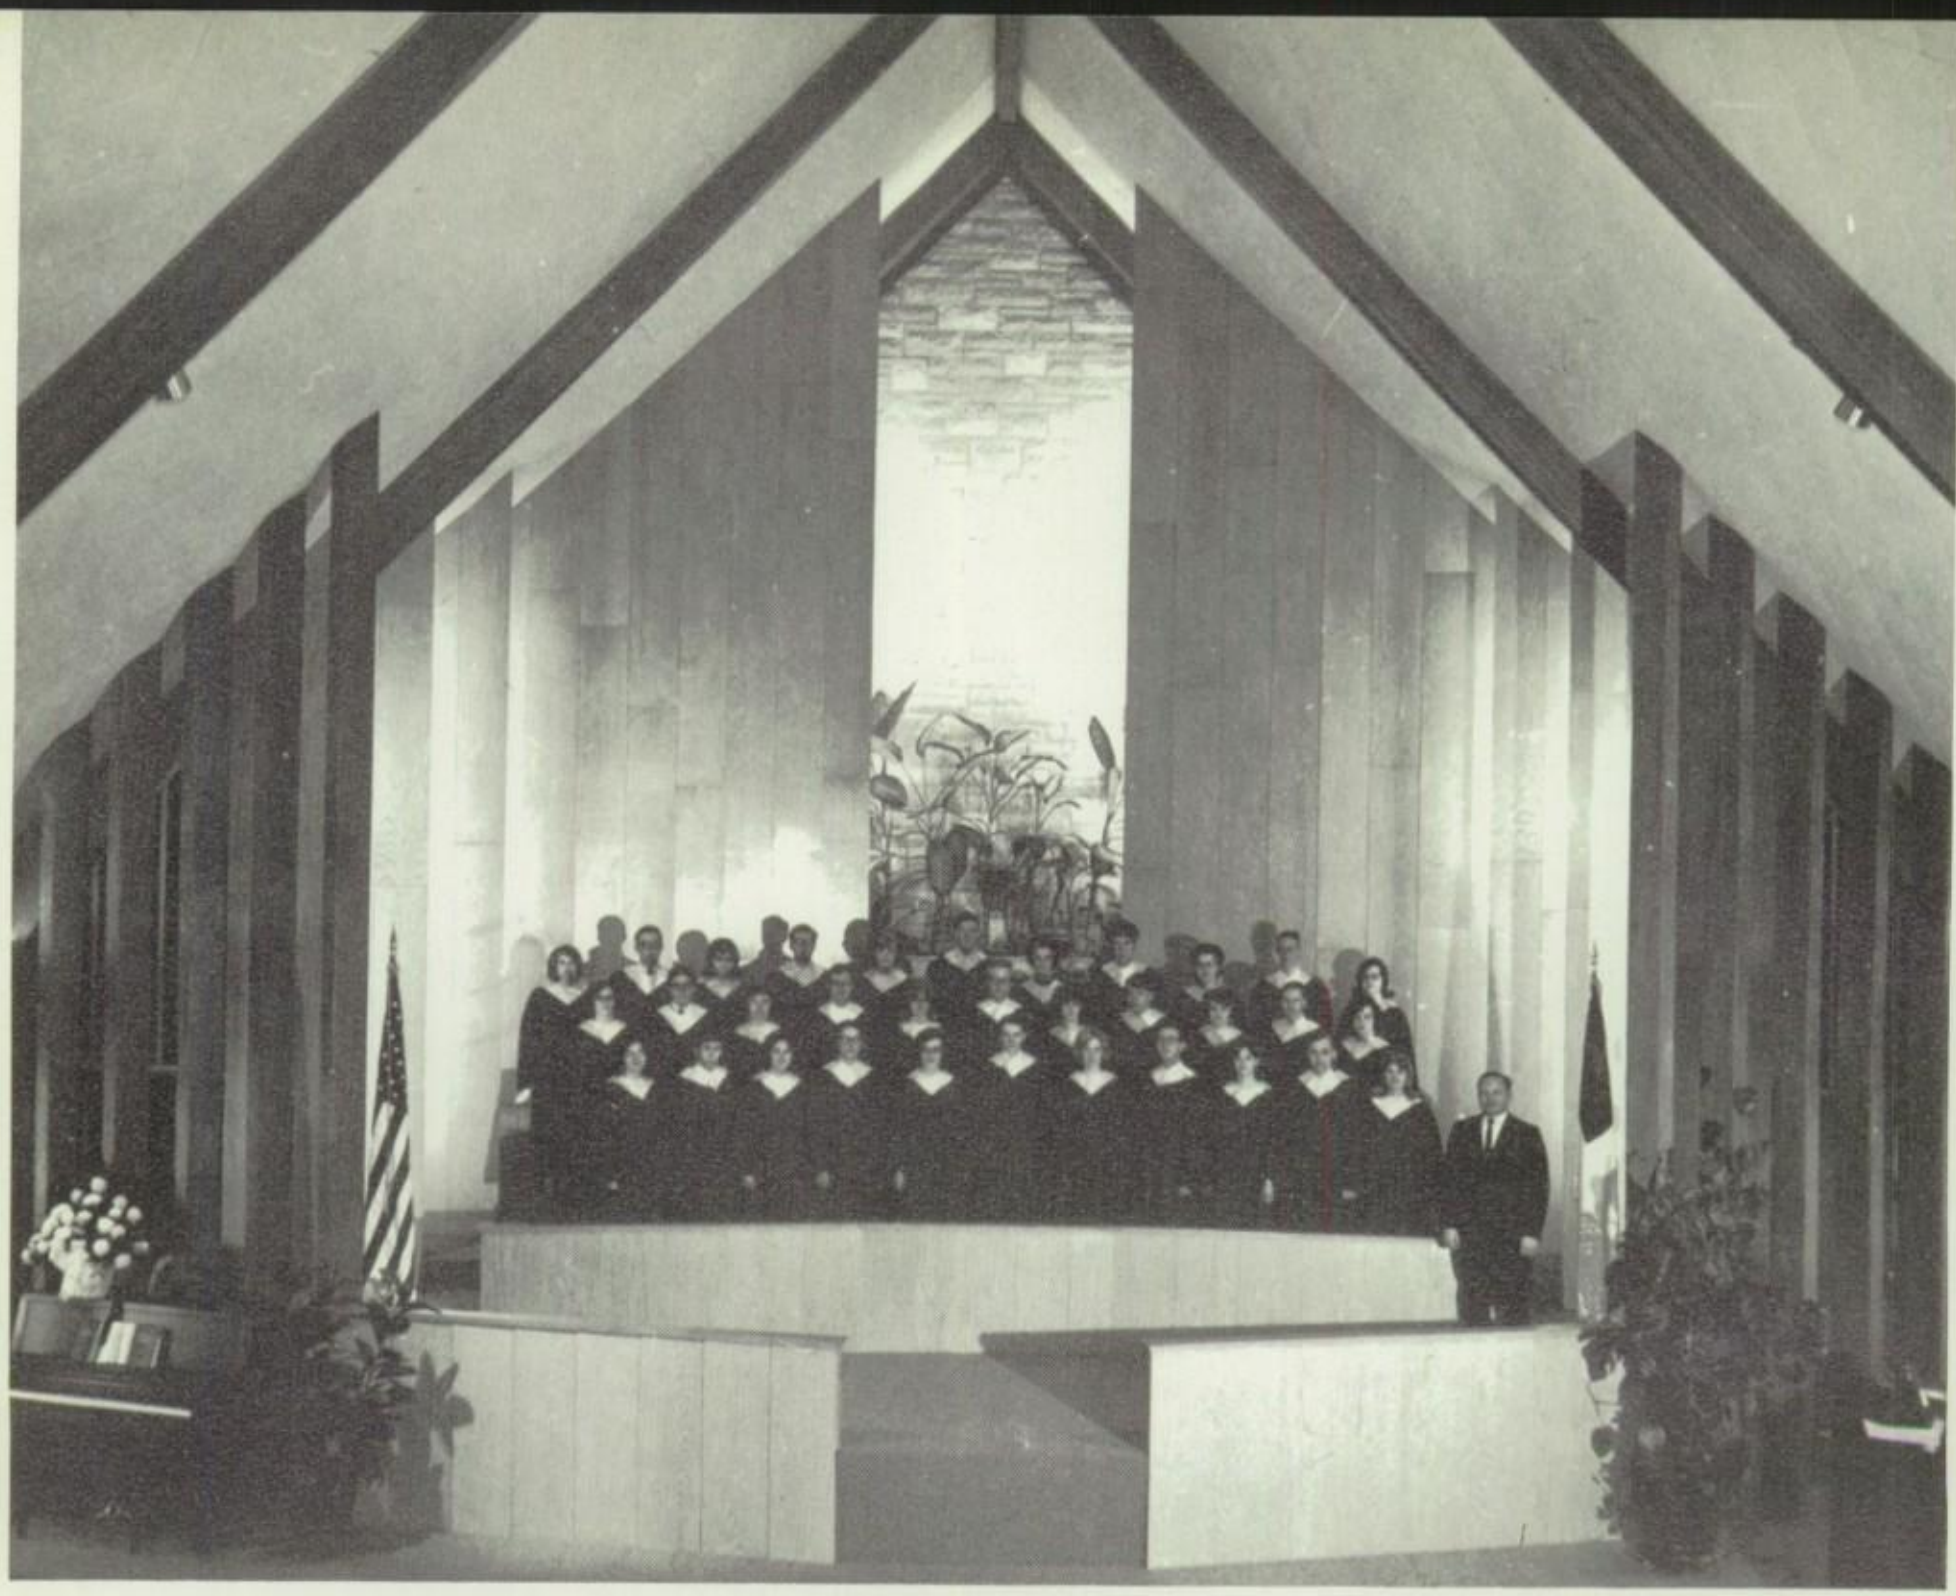
Activities



Maplewood Academy Choraliers under the direction of Mr. Glenn Wheeler.

"Is everyone here?" "Where's my tie?" "Do you have the trio music?" "When do we get there?"---and so, after many hours of practice and concentrated rehearsals, the Choraliers are off on another trip to Brainerd, Thief River Falls, the Cities, South Dakota, or Iowa, sharing their talents with others while working for God. What makes their trip so special? Little things. Little things like getting up at 5 o'clock in the morning and piling into the bus half awake, and trying to settle down among the blankets for more sleep, or stopping for pizza and ice cream on the way home. Little things like everyone joining in on every song they can think of as they drive down the highway 60 miles an hour, or caroling up and down a snow laden street in a distant town. Sleeping all curled up in the seat, reading, and even studying on the bus, laughing with one another, praying together at sundown worship on the road, and singing, always singing--that's Maplewood Choraliers '66.

"Deck the hall with boughs of holly."

What's a Christmas program without Santa?

One of the various activities during this past year was the adding of their voices in support to the Gaylord effort.

Choraliers record their "It's Christmas Once Again" to be played all over KDUZ land.

The Academy Band under the direction of Mr. Wheeler.

Music. . . the voice of the soul

Music--a sound which may be heard almost anytime and anywhere as the students of Maplewood express themselves. A piano, or a trio, always there is music to brighten the day and make that sunny day seem just around the corner.

Naomi Blom, Kathy Howard, and Colleen Wixson, comprise the Junior Trio.

The Ladies Trio is made up of Karleen Lund, Kathy Malas, and Liz Voss.

The double trio composed of Colleen Wixson, Karleen Lund, Naomi Blom, Kathy Malas, Liz Voss, and Kathy Howard, sing for Open House.

One of the added attractions at the Christmas program was the Church School Choir, under the direction of Miss Cowdrick.

Hear ye, hear ye, your vote must be cast for Connie!

Congratulations, Bruce, it's all yours!

First privileges of a new officer-many hands to be shaken, many congratulations to be received.

The officers finally announced, everyone crowds around to be the first to give congratulations.

The new officers have smiles of appreciation for everyone.

Tired but happy, the new A.S.B. officers are eager to take over their posts of duty.

I don't believe it!

The day dawned bright. Everyone was set for fun. The events started early with the competition keen. A break for dinner and a little rest and then the excitement began anew. The day full of thrills - broad jump - pole vault - football game - softball game - drew to a close with the seniors in first place and the juniors trailing by a mere 3 points.

"Miss Graceful" barreling in!

Up, up, and over!

Graceful, wouldn't you say?

Everyone is in the spirit for a hootenanny

Take it easy, take it slow, and go, go, go!

Remember the spoon!

Full of the usual-witches and goblins, eerie sounds and yes, lots and lots of fun. While the shaving cream flew, screams were heard as the electric slide was tried out in the fun house. Roll out the barrel, we're riding high on the broom tonight! Shouts and laughter were everywhere. The pie eating did get a little messy-especially blindfolded! Everyone joined in, to make it a Halloween to remember.

This is too much!

Variety, change of pace, well why not!! Girls basketball for a playperiod. A chance for the guys to pick up a few pointers on the finer points of the game. The taffy pulls and ice skating or a hootenanny around a blazing fire in the North Woods....

Yes, I'm sure I'm quite sane.

Jump, jump, jump high!

Cresit Eundo has been fun, exciting, and very active throughout this past year. Club nights were always looked forward to because something new and different always took place. Marlan, from Marlan and Ruth's Beauty Shop, came and gave tips and pointers on hair dressing. Mrs. Armour showed many ways to gift wrap presents, and Mrs Neher gave a demonstration in cake decorating. Then there were always the cake, cooky, and malt feeds, and of course the secret friendship sis, which were always fun to have. One of the more important events of girls' club was when they bought their new stero. Also open house which was sponsored by boys' and girls' club. "The Horse With the Flying Tail" was the feature film which climaxed the program.

Knights of East Hall

"As a matter of fact, it has been rather DEAD around here tonight."

"Raid kills 'em dead."

Calling Dr. Krazy!

The Knights of East Hall, ever ready for fun and excitement, have enjoyed their basketball and softball games with a little touch of swimming making the scene with a big splash. "Hearts" was the theme of the evening. Hearts melting, hearts being given away, hearts laughing, and hearts that are having fun. Dr. Kiljoy and Dr. Krazy with their assistant, Miss Gallstone, performed a delicate operation to cure a stubbed toe which ended up as a complication of symptoms brought on by serious chain smoking. The fun was carried on by a crazy version of Truth and Consequences, and our two Maplewood Super-Sneaky Private Noses failed in an attempt to uncover a secret plot by two students. The big event of the first part of the evening's program was the crowning of the personality King and Queen. The last part of the evening was spent roller skating. The Girls Club, Boys Club, and A.S.B. concluded their support of the program by serving cherry pie and ice cream.

Hats off to the personality King and Queen of the year, Gary Nyberg, and Claudia Schulz.

"No, Connie, over to the left one inch, and up three."

Barry, you missed!

The boys struggle to win in an exciting boys-against-girls basketball game.

Intramural Sports this school year were many and varied in their forms. The fall of last year was filled with softball and football with keen competition between teams. The weather changed and sports moved inside to volleyball and basketball. Both the guys and the girls organized teams and held tournaments regularly. An occasional game of mixed volleyball or boys handicaped basketball invaded the scene with screams and cheers of delight when the girls would pull ahead of the guys.

Saturday night programs were frequently brought to an exciting close as the Maplewood All Stars captured another hard sought victory.

The staff of Maple Log-"66" has struggled through the last-minute deadlines and the late nights of putting the final touches on those "last few pages." The editors typists, and business managers working together as a team have tried to make this Log the best ever. The Maple Log gave a special chapel program to help promote their joint Music Department-Maple Log Christmas benefit. For those who sold five tickets or more the Log sponsored a Malt Feed. We the staff, hope that you will enjoy reviewing the events of this past year in your Maple Log as much as we have enjoyed preparing it for you.

Seniors

Curtis Wiltse, valedictorian with a G.P.A. of 3.991, enjoys flying as a pastime.

Sandy Lay, 3.025, prepares for graduation by sending out announcements.

Dean Hagele, 3.160, spends his spare time practicing his trumpet.

Lowell Rideout, 3.609, can be found playing ping-pong most any hour of the day when free.

Reading is a favorite pastime for Russel Zummach, 3.432.

Wes Quale, 3.022, is a dependable worker in the book bindery.

Skiing is the favorite sport of Sue Frye, 3.078.

Jerry Rivinius, 3.475, operates his own Ham radio set.

Nina Wehling, 3.203, enjoys playing the piano as a pastime and art.

Errol Eder, salutatorian with a G.P.A. of 3.775, is an asset to the all-star team.

Sandy Horst, 3.207, enjoys secretarial work.

Linda Croak, 3.642, puts much time into planning her M.V. programs.

Honor Students

Four years of outstanding scholastic achievement has set these students apart as persons who are to be the leaders of tomorrow. Not satisfied with accepting "average" as being good enough, they have worked to put themselves above this mark. Combining studies with hobbies and special activities they find enjoyable, they have made themselves well-rounded students who have earned the right to wear the Honor Cords at graduation.

Gary Nyberg, 3.037, spends much time working on his fascinating hobby of repairing watches.

At work for the Holmes is Claudia Schulz, 3.390.

Sandy Felton, 3.000, spends some of her time listening to records.

"Math can really be made quite simple," as Mr. Dirksen, fifth through eighth grade teacher, explains to one of his pupils.

Church School

There they are--the future students of Maplewood Academy, busily studying their lessons; preparing themselves for the future. Many hours are devoted by their teachers in making school interesting, character building, and of course, of a high educational value.

Another activity in their well rounded school program is the blending of their voices together in the school choir. Under the able direction of Miss Dorothy Cowdrick, they not only learn of reading music, but also how to work with other people their own age.

Mrs. Conquest accompanies her first through fourth grade students as they sing a merry round.

COURTESY OF METROPOLITAN LUMBER COMPANY

Scenes of laughter, scenes of sorrow, scenes of the commonplace, scenes of the unusual, all blend together in the whirling turmoil of time. The past is lost in the rushing tide of events, always progressing to new thoughts, new goals--new dreams....

Happiness is –

... The old giving way to the new.

... Friends?

... Girls winning the Maple Leaf campaign.

... Measuring for caps and gowns.

... A quiet Friday nite, and a song pulling at your heart strings.

... Four friends, seven dogs, and nine pictures.

When the last picture has been returned; when the last copy has been proofread, when the last layout has been sent in, the editor lays aside her pen and closes gently, somewhat nostalgically the book of another year, hoping that she has captured within its pages the highlights and memories that will live always in the hearts of her fellow students.
